OFFICIALS DECLARE Timing Inaccurate

FIGHT WOMEN'S SPORTS

Question of Control Is Forced to Floor of Meeting by Burdick.

Unless the usual order of things is completely upset sensational records credited to Charley Paddock of Los Angeles on the Pacific coast last July will receive no recognition from Amateur Athletic Union, which sits in annual convention to-day at the Hotel McAlpin. That there would be no new records for Paddock was forecast last night when the record committee of the A. A. U. voted to recommend that the clockings not be accepted because of "inaccuracies in timing." It is customary for the general association to accept the recommendations of its various committees.

The times for which Paddock asked records were all posted at Santa Barbara, Cal., July 4. They are: Seventy yards, 7.1 seconds; 75 yards, 7.3 seconds; 80 yards, 7.4 seconds; 100 yards, 8.4 seconds; 125 yards, 12.1 seconds; 175 yards, 17.2 seconds. Two other applications for records were also denied by the committee. One of these was Loren Murphree's 40 yard indoor record of 6.1 seconds, made at Chicago March 24. The other was the 1,000 yard record posted by Hal Cutbill at the 174th Regiment Armory, Buffalo, March 15. The latter was rejected on the ground that Cutbill had already committed the offense for which he was later suspended by the A. A. U. when he made his record. His time was 3 minutes 13 seconds.

Divide on Women's Sports.

Whether the A. A. U. will or will not take over control of women's sports will be fought out on the night of November 21, when the association meets at the Hotel McAlpin. The committee on women's sports, headed by Dr. William Burdick of Baltimore, chairman of the committee on women's sports, was expected to report on the subject of taking charge of their games. It was expected as late as yesterday afternoon that the committee would overrule its head and recommend that the association be left to the Amateur Athletic Union, which has been in charge of the women's sports since 1912. However, Dr. Burdick was not without his backers when the committee went into executive session and the result was a tied vote of 5 to 5. The result means that the women's sports will be left to the Amateur Athletic Union without recommendation of the A. A. U.

Among the various recommendations made by the registration committee was that the Amateur Athletic Union be asked to take over the women's sports. This was recommended by Dr. Burdick and by J. P. Loomis, who was expected to report on the subject of taking charge of their games. It was expected as late as yesterday afternoon that the committee would overrule its head and recommend that the association be left to the Amateur Athletic Union, which has been in charge of the women's sports since 1912. However, Dr. Burdick was not without his backers when the committee went into executive session and the result was a tied vote of 5 to 5. The result means that the women's sports will be left to the Amateur Athletic Union without recommendation of the A. A. U.

The trouble developed over $100 expense paid to the Los Angeles Athletic Club and $15 paid to his brother. After much discussion the complaint was laid before the national convention a year ago and the recommendation was made that the Los Angeles Athletic Club be asked to take over the women's sports. This was recommended by Dr. Burdick and by J. P. Loomis, who was expected to report on the subject of taking charge of their games. It was expected as late as yesterday afternoon that the committee would overrule its head and recommend that the association be left to the Amateur Athletic Union, which has been in charge of the women's sports since 1912. May Reinstate Kiviat. Accompanying the announcement that suspension of Ray and Loomis had been recommended, came word that the registration committee had also recommended the reinstatement of Abel Kiviat and Harry Smith, whose expulsions were a "stain" on the track and field athletics seven years ago. Kiviat and Smith competed at Schenectady in 1915, and had their amateur rights taken from them on the grounds of accepting "exorbitant expenses."

Another runner whose reinstatement was recommended is Frank Masterson of The Bronx. He was also set down in 1915. The return of James Romano, a boxer, to good standing was recommended, but the application of Harry A. Oltman of Brooklyn, a hop, step and jump specialist, was denied.

Several international developments also marked the meeting of the legislation committee. An amendment to the constitution dealing with an annual registration fee and making an initial payment suffice while the athlete remains in good standing, was sent to the convention without recommendation. The committee also advised disqualification from competition to a high jumper, house attendant or playground worker (not rated as a professional coach) until "such employment is permanently abandoned."

Still another recommendation would require foreign athletes visiting the United States to apply to the national registration committee for permission to compete. The applicant must state the place or places at which he or she plans to compete and the financial arrangements made. Then the expense money awarded will be deposited with the chairman of the registration committee, who will turn it over to the athlete.

It was intimated last night that the outdoor senior National A. A. U. track and field championships would go to Los Angeles or Chicago. Buffalo is slated to get the senior indoor championships and the junior indoor championships are headed for New York, while Philadelphia will probably get the senior and junior cross country championships.

PASTIME HARRIER WINS LONG RACE

Joseph Conti Leads Home
Field in Unionport A. C.
6 1-2 Mile Contest.

Joseph Conti, a rugged little harrier of the Pastime A. C. scampered off first place in the six and a half mile road race of the Unionport A. C., decided through the streets of The Bronx yesterday. He beat the tape 55 yards in advance of Michael Dwyer, a veteran Mohawk Athletic Club cross country runner, the second man.

Conti, who had an allowance of 6 minutes 45 seconds, caught the limit man, to whom he conceded 15 seconds, after racing three-quarters of a mile. Once in front, he set a fast pace and was never headed.

Ilmar Prim, one of the star distance runners of the Finnish-American A. C., won the fast time prize in 24 minutes 9 seconds. First prize was awarded to John Flanagan of St. Vincent's A. C. W. Ruckel received the trophy offered by the member of the Unionport A. C. to finish.

JOCK HUTCHISON, Former American Holder of the British Open Golf Championship ON THE LAW OF THE LINKS

By Jock Hutchison

ANSWER TO THE PROBLEM OF THE BALLS CLOSE TOGETHER.

One of the rules in golf is that the players further away plays first. This also applies on the green as well as through the fairway. You would not be permitted to lift your ball and allow the ball in front of you to be played first. If your opponent's ball is within six inches of your ball you have a right to ask him to lift it while you play, but under all circumstances you must play first because you are further from the hole.

PROBLEM OF THE STYME.

"Dear Jock: I noticed in a recent golf article that the rule states that when the ball is six inches of the edge of the putting green that it is a styme."

"I did not understand what this meant."

"Will you please enlighten me on this subject?"

(Answer to-morrow, and the problem of ball moving in water.)

GOLF 'PROS' BEGIN TO SEE THE LIGHT

Higher Professions Likely to Become Crowded as Result of U. S. G. A. Circular.

By KERR N. PETRIE.

An immediate and salutary response has been gained by the recent circular letter sent out by the executive committee of the United States Golf Association mentioning casually that it "has noted with some misgivings the practice of offering unusually large prizes indulged in by member clubs and sectional associations for the purpose of inducing golf professionals to compete in open tournaments and exhibitions." As a result of this many brethren of the fluted masher-blick already have declared themselves cured and have taken steps to ascertain which branches of commerce or science most urgently require their services.

One "pro" says he is so disgusted with the action of the association that he will proceed to open a bank. Another has taken an option on a large tract of land where he intends to erect a factory for the canning of house fly wafters. A third has intimated that he will be satisfied with a chain of delicatessen stores, or, failing this, a steel mill, a railroad, a transatlantic steamship line, a three ring circus, an orange grove, or an acreage sufficient to enable him to go into the business of breaking softshells crabs to harness on an extensive scale. "It is not that the pros have taken any long to discover themselves," said one well known professional. "Just watch how the rest come tumbling in when the real meaning of the U. S. G. A. circular begins to percolate their cranial protuberances. Take this clause: 'The present officials feel that if the practice now in vogue is not checked early and vigorously in the case of the professional players who will devote their entire time and attention to attending tournaments.'"

Money Being Wasted.

"Is it conceivable that we have been so dense as not to perceive the underlying motive? Why, the U. S. G. A. simply is trying to save us from ourselves. Our club conducts usually run for eight months or not longer than nine. In the winter some of us go South, lured by that 'big money.' We spend perhaps $1,000 or $1,500, and if that is not all dead loss we are lucky. Can't they see that the national body is trying to save us money? Gosh! Why didn't they holler out loud long before this?"

But other professionals are scientific turn of mind. "I'm through with tournaments. I intend to start a syndicate for the manufacture and exploitation of a little device on which I hold all patent rights. Guaranteed to exterminate angleworms. Guaranteed to exterminate angleworms.
